How to obtain a police certificate: New Zealand

Do I need to provide a police certificate when applying for permanent residence?

Yes, a criminal history report is required for all applicants aged 17 or older.

How do I obtain one?

The applicant must complete and sign Consent to Disclosure of Information (NZ) form, and attach a clear photocopy of their current photo/ID page and signature page of their passport to the form.

When completing the Consent to Disclosure of Information (NZ) form it is important to:

- ➔ Ensure you provide your current or last known New Zealand address – this address is required for the processing of your NZ criminal history check
- ➔ Ensure you sign and date the Disclosure of Information (NZ) form
- ➔ Ensure a clear photocopy of the photo/ID page and signature page of your passport is attached to the Consent to Disclosure of Information (NZ) form – note that the photocopy of your passport does not need to be certified or notarized

How should I submit the Consent to Disclosure of Information (NZ) form?

The completed Disclosure of Information (NZ) form and copy of your photo/ID and signature pages of your passport must be included in your visa application kit at time of submission to CIC.

The CIC Office processing your application will work with the appropriate authorities to obtain the required Criminal History Report on your behalf.

IMPORTANT: Applicants should not send their Disclosure of Information (NZ) form directly to the New Zealand Police Authorities.

Are other New Zealand Police Certificates acceptable?

No, a New Zealand Ministry of Justice certificate or similar is not an acceptable substitute.
