If you or someone acting on your behalf directly or indirectly misrepresents (for example, by submitting forged documents) or withholds material facts relating to your application for admission to Canada:

- Your application will be refused;
- The circumstances of your refusal will be entered into Canada's global immigration database;
- The circumstances of your misrepresentation may be communicated to authorities in your home country and/or Canada to determine whether criminal proceedings should be initiated against you and/or any other person(s) who assisted in the misrepresentation.

We check routinely with issuing authorities, home government departments and other reliable sources to verify whether information provided and documents submitted are genuine.

There is no excuse or justification for misrepresentation. If a document we require is not available to you, attach a written explanation when you submit your application, and, if possible, other documents or information that might substantiate the issue in question.

Misrepresenting or withholding material facts relating to your application for admission to Canada is a criminal offence. On several recent occasions, persons who submitted or assisted in the submission of fraudulent documents to this office have been apprehended, convicted and sent to jail.

In addition, deliberate misrepresentation of the facts on your application could prohibit you from entering Canada for a period of up to 2 years.

I have read and understood the above warning
